Industry and operations

Steel and Manganese Industry

During the first quarter of the year, the steel industry had a positive economic trend, with remarkable increases in production volume and demand for steel. Globally, liquid steel production showed an important growth compared to the same period of the previous year, highlighting countries like Japan, Mexico, United States and India.

The manganese mineral showed a solid performance. The international prices registered a 42% boost over the same month in 2017, due to the Chinese market and its influence over the Silicomanganese futures in the Zhengzhou Stock Exchange. In addition, the spot prices of the manganese ferroalloys presented a positive trend, with superior levels than those reported in the last years. In the 1Q18, the average prices of the ferromanganese high carbon and ferromanganese medium carbon had increases of the 8% and 12% respectively, in comparison to the same period of the year before.

Energy

The power generation of the Hydroelectric Power Plant Atexcaco located in Puebla of Compañía de Energía Mexicana, S.A. de C.V. (CEM), covered during 2018 first quarter the 26% of Autlán's power needs for the three ferroalloy plants, which kept their full capacity operation. This allowed energy costs reductions of more than $400 thousand dollars in this period.

One of Autlán's strategic objectives is to stand out amongst the lowest cost ferroalloy producers in the world with total environmental care. That's why the vertical integration is a key factor to achieve this goal, producing its own clean energy at a very low cost.

In addition to this, on April Autlán closed a Power Purchase Agreement (PPA) with Iberdrola México for 170 GWh/year for three years, with an optional annual renovation. This benefit will bring additional savings to those generated by CEM. This PPA allowed near $50 thousand dollars of power cost reductions in 1Q18.

Autlán, through its Energy Division, is now a clean energy supply option for potential clients. With these operations, Autlán reaffirms its interest in participating more closely in the energy sector and takes a solid step towards the diversification and growth of its revenues.

Financial Highlights

Adoption of the US dollar as functional and reporting currency

According to the International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), the functional currency must be chosen according to the currency of the economic environment in which the company and its subsidiaries mainly operate, taking this into consideration the Company's management concluded that beginning on January 1, 2014 its functional currency is the US dollar (USD).

Starting from year 2016, Autlán changes its reporting currency from Mexican pesos to US dollars, this is because the environment in which the company operates is mostly managed in the North American currency, so the financial statements expressed in dollars are a better approach of the results and the financial situation of the company.

*For consolidated figures, sales in the Energy Division have been eliminated due to the fact that all the power generation is for internal use in ferroalloy production.

Net Sales

During the first quarter of 2018, Autlan's net sales ascended to $89.3 million dollars, 6% above the sales of the same period of 2017. The positive results reflect the rise in the product prices and the export of fines nodules to different markets.

It is important to mention that, on a consolidated basis, the Energy Division sales are eliminated because as of 1Q18, all the power generation was for internal use in the ferroalloy production.

Cost of sales

The cost of sales of the first quarter of 2018 was of $58.5 million dollars against $49.0 million dollars registered in the same quarter of 2017. This was mostly because of the rise in prices of the main inputs like the manganese mineral and coke, which affected the cost by $6.0 million dollars, as well as the effect of a higher volume sold of mining products.

Operating cost and profit

The operating expenses of 1Q18 were of $9.8 million dollars, $1.8 million dollars greater than the registered in the same period of 2017. As a consequence of higher expenses because of the export of fines nodules and to extraordinary expenses of consulting firms for strategic purposes.

Autlán obtained in the quarter a solid operating margin of 23%, registering an operating income (EBIT) of $20.9 million dollars.

A combination of better productive processes and the recovery in prices permitted an EBITDA over sales margin of 30%. In US dollars, the EBITDA was improved to the previous quarter reporting $26.6 million dollars in this period.

Financial income and expenses

The financial result of 2018 first quarter presented an increase in the net financial expense of $1.7 million dollars YoY. Mainly because of the exchange loss due to the 7% appreciation of the Mexican peso registering an exchange loss during the quarter.

Net Income

The net profit was of $3.4 million dollars in 1Q18 registering a 4% margin over sales.

The figures for fourth quarter 2017 and first quarter 2018 are presented and prepared using US dollar as the functional and reporting currency.

The consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2018 shows a decrease of 23% in Cash compared to 4Q17, driven by the cash outflow of working capital requirements.

In Accounts Receivable, there was a rise of 4% as a result of higher and greater value of net sales during the first quarter in comparison to last year's fourth quarter. The client portfolio is very strong with solid rotations.

¹ The numbers presented here, not being audited, are subject to possible adjustments or reclassifications by our auditors.

Regarding Inventories, there was an increase of 9% due to the higher value in ferroalloy finished goods and the purchase of imported raw materials at a higher value required to fulfill the increase in production levels. These imported materials are acquired to be consumed in an efficient productive cycle in the following months according to a supply program.

The Fixed Assets figure remain flat with a slight decrease of 1% due to higher depreciation in the year in relation to new investments.

The Goodwill of $10.9 million dollars refers to the investment in the subsidiary Compañía de Energía Mexicana, S.A de C.V. (CEM), in which Autlán already holds 100% of the capital stock of the company. This integration has allowed us to have more control of one of the company's main costs which is power and consequently this increased the operating income.

In Liabilities, in February an issuance of short-term unsecured notes took place for an amount of $200 million pesos at an annual interest rate equivalent to TIIE 28 days + 0.85%, the funds were used to prepay working capital credit lines, decreasing its financial cost. Additionally, short and long-term debt reflected an increase as a result of the 7% appreciation of the Mexican peso, given that most of the debt is in national currency.

The Equity of the Company as of March 31, 2018 reported $301.1 million dollars against $298.2 million dollars at the end of 2017.

Investments

During March 2018, Autlán entered into an agreement with Metallorum's stockholders for the acquisition of the remaining shares of Metallorum. As of this day, Autlán owns 10% of Metallorum. The agreement establishes that Autlán could acquire the remaining equity by paying in cash for a portion of the shares of Metallorum (using cash or available lines of credit) and/or by the transfer of Autlán's shares to Metallorum's shareholders due to the merge of the companies, in which Autlán will be the merging entity.

Metallorum is a Mexican corporation engaged in precious metals mining. The company successfully operates several gold mines in the state of Sonora, with full respect for its local communities and the environment and has a remarkable resource potential to drive its growth in the near future.

This transaction, which details can be consulted in the Informative Brochure in its online version found at Autlán's webpage: www.autlan.com.mx and at the Mexican Stock Exchange webpage: www.bmv.com.mx, is subject to final authorization by the corresponding corporate entities (including Autlán's Shareholders Meeting), regulatory permits, as well as governmental and third-party approvals necessary for its closure.

With this deal Autlán moves forward to its strategic growth plan in profitable sectors, such as, renewable power generation, manganese mining and ferroalloys, and now in the precious metals mining.

In addition to the transaction mentioned before, the Capex plan for 2018 was released which is focused on sustainable growth of its production capacity in the Mining and Ferroalloy Divisions.

In response to increases in reported and forecasted steel production in Mexico and North America, Autlán plans on expanding its ferroalloy production capacity by approximately 15% during the next three years. For 2018, the company expects to grow its installed capacity by 7% over the 2017 figures, as a result of operating efficiency projects and making use of state-of-the-art technology to strengthen its furnaces. All initiatives will be in full compliance with current environmental regulations.

In order to satisfy additional ferroalloys volume, Autlán will make a significant investment in exploration, planning and mining, as well as to its exclusive nodulization process, enhance the life of its mine and maximize production. It will also increase its output of manganese nodules, a unique product in the global marketplace, for both self-use and for international clients.

Derivative Financial Instruments

On December 7th, 2016, Compañía de Energía Mexicana, S.A. de C.V., Autlán's subsidiary, acquired with a financial institution an interest rate option to cover the risk of an increase in rates generated by the refinance of its debt. As of March 31, 2018, this option hasn't been executed.

In the first quarter of 2018, Autlán didn't acquire any hedge options regarding the exchange rate to cover an appreciation of the Mexican peso against the dollar. At the end of the first quarter there are no open hedge positions.

The measures taken by the company on this issue, as well as their valuation are detailed in the report entitled "Supplement to the Quarterly Report." In the future, and given the nature of its operations, Autlán will continue to hedge using derivatives as it has been doing for years, only to avoid impacts on the budget and minimize the risk of exchange rate and raw material prices. However, it is important to mention that the operating policies of derivative financial instruments have been reviewed and adjusted to avoid as much as possible the negative impact that these operations may result because of sudden changes in the global environment.

Outlook

Positive views for this year are expected in the steel industry, nationally and internationally. Nevertheless, some challenges could be seen during the second quarter of 2018. In April, the tariff of 15% on imports of some steel products from countries Mexico hasn't signed a Free Trade Agreement will conclude. The final decision of prolongating this tariff by the Mexican authorities will be in April 2018.

On the other hand, the NAFTA negotiations will continue during the next months of the year. In March 15, United States published the final resolution on Section 232 of a 25% tariff on steel imports, in which Mexico was excluded temporarily from this tariff.

Furthermore, after concluding the acquisition of Metallorum, Autlán will consolidate its results with the new Precious Metals Division.
